Day-2

Second day started with the discussion on NCF 2005, NCFTE 2010 and RTE 2009 to recap the key learning points. To find the real implication of Nai Talim, in session- 'Nai Talim Film (Case Method for Work Education)', a documentary video of Anand Niketan School was shown to the participants of FDP. In that school the curriculum is based on learning by doing and skill oriented activities like doing work in fields to get knowledge about agriculture packaging, household activities, economic activities etc.

The second video of Baba Aya Singh School, Riarki Gurdaspur, was shown to participants. In that school students are very much self reliant. Whole administration of school is under the control of students themselves like teaching, examination, cleanliness etc. In that school there is no teacher, senior students teach the juniors. In that school environment is totally different from the environment of present general schools.

After tea break, there was a discussion on videos by the participants and all express their views and try to find out the loops and holes in our present education system.

In next session- 'Education relating to life-Work Education and its implications', all the participants were divided into groups and told them to give a innovative name. Groups had given the names like Leader group, Galaxy etc. Then the groups were instructed to frame the activities and also given a format to fill according to the activity framed on the different topics from the assigned typology of class 1st to Vth curriculum as given in the book 'Nai Talim'. All participants prepared creative lesson plan based on particular format covering the domains: Head

To Whom it may concern

It is to certify that the extension lectures/ activities mentioned in 2.3.6 are regular features of the college. The detailed schedule is already uploaded. As far as the point no. 3 (findings of DVV) the signature of students in each activity are required, in this connection we humbly submitted that students attendance is mentioned on attendance register instead of preparing separate signature sheets. For some programs like Internship workshop the college uses separate attendance chart. From previous year the college has started separate attendance sheet as required for NAAC purpose.
